

Cold Feet.

When I have got a tree to cut I go ahead and hew it; I say, "It is a tough one but I know that I can do it!" And so I briskly overwhelm that massive forest giant, the ancient and ancestral elm that acted so defiant. I see so many tackle work with doubts that they'll achieve it; their every effort seems to irk, and when half done they leave it. The pride of conquest isn't theirs; they have no high ambition; they'd rather sit in easy chairs bawling their condition. With languid hearts and frigid feet they work for spuds and sinkers, and if they earn enough to eat they think they're truly clinkers. They're of the race of Never-sweat, they balk at all endeavor; and so the poor are with us yet, and will be here forever. When I dehorn a muley cow I tie her with a halter, and saw the antlers from her brow, and do not fool or falter. What I do I do with zeal, with trifling I'm disgusted; and so I always have a wheel when other men are busted.

SCHOOL OFFICIAL TO TELL OF VOCATIONAL TRAINING

Ernest L. Thurston to Outline This Work Before Monday Evening Club at Y. M. C. A.

Cardinal Gibbons yesterday confirmed a class of 168 men, women and children at the 11 o'clock mass at the Immaculate Conception Roman Catholic Church, 8th and N streets northwest. Mrs. C. W. Aughlinbaugh was sponsor for the women and girls, and James Harvey for the men and boys. At the 7 o'clock mass first holy communion was administered to a large class of boys and girls. The Holy Name Society of the church acted as guard of honor to the Cardinal in the procession from the rectory to the church at the late mass. Rev. James A. Burns and Rev. M. J. Riordan were deacons of honor to the Cardinal, who occupied the throne erected for him in the sanctuary. In the confirmation class were 132 children and thirty adults, eighteen of the latter being converts to the Catholic faith. A short sermon was preached by the Cardinal at this mass.

Dinner in Cardinal's Honor. Following the mass a dinner in the Cardinal's honor was served in the rectory, and was attended by a number of visiting clergymen. Among those present were Rt. Rev. Thomas J. Shahan, rector of the Catholic University; Rt. Rev. Thomas S. Lee, pastor of St. Matthew's Church; Rev. James A. Burns, president of Holy Cross College; Rev. Dr. George A. Dougherty, vice president of the Catholic University; Rev. James H. Cassidy, pastor of St. Stephen's Church; Rev. P. C. Gavan, pastor of the Sacred Heart Church; Rev. B. J. McKenna, secretary of the Catholic University; and Rev. Michael Gallagher, spiritual director of Catholic charities.

Along the line of legislative effort the progress is described of better laws for amendments to the so-called "loan shark law," for elimination of "inhabited" and "blind" alleys, for an improved procedure for commitment of the insane and for the appointment of woman special agents possessing police powers and authority.

"TEAM PLAY" FOR U. S. URGED BY MR. BARRETT

Director of Pan-American Union Tells What Co-Operation Has Done for France and England.

Urging universal military training, and telling of his observations while on a two-month visit to France and England, John Barrett, director general of the Pan-American Union, last night addressed an enthusiastic audience gathered in the Pan-American building. Experiences on the battle front and while observing the methods of organization and administration for the conduct of war in these countries were related by Mr. Barrett, who laid special emphasis upon the part being played by the women of France and England. In certain instances, he stated, the efficiency of the work has been increased under these conditions from 40 to 120 per cent.

The meeting out of quick punishment for the slightest act of utterance of disloyal nature in this country was urged by the speaker, who said that France and England have long since adopted this course.

Mr. Barrett said, in part: "One of the things that has a dominating influence on conditions in France and England today is the absolute intolerance of any act or utterance that can be construed as a sign of disloyalty. At first both countries were gravely hampered by men and women whose voices bordered on doubtful ground. These have now been eliminated, and this must be the experience of the United States if it is to conduct war successfully."

"The first impression I gained when I landed on the other side was the wonderful co-operation or 'team play' to be evidenced everywhere, from the relations between the humblest laborer and the 'captain of industry.' Another factor in the extraordinary organization and system which characterizes everything that is being done.

"Nothing seems to be worked out by haphazard individual or selfish act. Everybody is working under a major plan and under superior authority. Every one is doing something for national service. There was a long period of confusion before this condition was realized. The United States must avoid that experience."

IS NO LONGER PASTOR.

Rev. Earl Douglas Retires From Sixth Presbyterian Church Pulpit.

Rev. Earl Douglas, who for the past seven months has been serving as pastor of the Sixth Presbyterian Church, today announced his resignation, stating that he had been formally installed in the work under the auspices of the Presbytery of Washington because he would not subscribe to certain doctrines of the church as enunciated by the Presbytery General Assembly, retired from that work yesterday.

The action on the part of the pastor had been long expected, but it was thought by some that he and the members of the presbytery would be able to arrive at an agreement through which he would receive the indorsement of that body.

Prize for Amateur Riders.

Washington amateur riders will be given an opportunity to compete for a prize at the National Capital horse show, May 5 to 10.
